Cookin' in Atlanta

By Scott O'Hara

Recently one of our well known and very experienced installers, Reed, had quite an unusual job, even for him. He had a disabled client, C. Warren, who didn't use his kitchen because it wasn't accessible for him. This created a hardship for Mr. Warren because not only did he like to cook, he also tries to eat healthy meals that he prepares at home.

Enter ShelfGenie and Reed to the rescue. Within a regular working day Reed installed 27 Glide-Outs AND a shelf!! You read it right-27 plus a shelf! Here are the photos to prove it. This project is just one that makes us proud of what we do. Mr. Warren has a kitchen that's custom designed just for his needs, and you can't believe how happy this has made him.

All-Access Bath

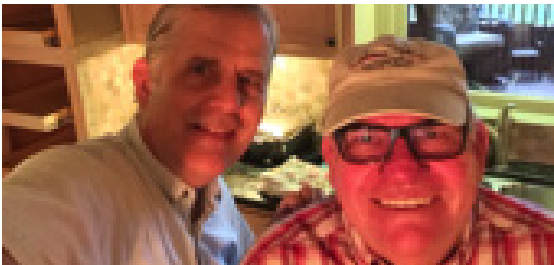

By Neydy Gomez

Our clients were a lovely, young couple in Miami with two small girls, and they lived in a small condo, Franchisee Neydy explained, "They had absolutely no storage in either bathroom-not one shelf; it was completely empty. You cannot expect a family with three women to not need storage space, especially when two are small girls who love hair ribbons, barrettes and hairbands, but each must have their own way to keep their ribbons separate from the other sister! That's just the way sisters are," laughs Neydy. The mother also requested a way to keep some items hidden from guests' views but also from curious girls.

"I thought spice racks would be the perfect product for the bathroom cabinets. And, they were. One of the things I love about designing for my clients is thinking outside the box. Spice racks are NOT just for kitchens. They're the perfect size and function for many rooms, such as my clients' bathrooms. In one bathroom, on a side of the cabinet, we installed a spice rack. But, on the other side of the cabinet, Toby, her Installer, installed an independent side G-O with a Drawer-in-a-Drawer." Look at the photos, and you'll see that in the second bathroom, Toby installed yet another spice rack on the left side and two independent side G-Os and a single on the right side.

"This works wonderfully for products that you want to hide from guests and small hands!" explained Neydy. Everyone was happy and all three women now have their individual storage space and two bathrooms with much needed functional storage.

From a House to a NEW Home

By Nick Starkey

When designer Cyndy S. walked into her client Mary's front door, she noticed packing boxes stacked ceiling high in almost every room. Naturally, Cyndy thought the client had just moved in. As Cyndy and her client sat together to talk about installing Glide-Outs in the kitchen, Mary began to open up.

Mary had moved into this house three years ago, and yet, there were boxes everywhere! Mary explained that she lived in Colorado, but five years ago, her husband died from cancer. She stayed in Colorado two more years, but she decided to move to Omaha to be closer to her children. While Mary liked her current house, she said, "it's never felt like a home without my husband. I didn't see any point in unpacking. And, even though I love to cook, who am I going to cook for now?"

Cyndy quickly realized that she could share ShelfGenie's Noble Sales Purpose™ approach for Mary and turn her pain and frustration into enjoyment and love. Glide-Outs would be key. After walking through the kitchen and talking about the things Mary loved to cook, Cyndy created a custom design to transform the cluttered pantry with the dated bi-fold doors. The first thing Cyndy and Nick, her installer wanted to do was replace the doors with French styled doors custom built for the space. Nick hung and painted the doors. Nick said, "By replacing the bi-folds with custom doors, we gained 3-inches on each side. That may not seem like a lot of extra space, but when creating access, that's HUGE!" They also added a hanger on the side for a broom.

Nick custom built this pantry featuring five Glide-Outs plus two custom spice racks. And as a final touch, Mary had some high-end doorknobs from her Colorado home, and Nick installed them on all her cabinets. They were just the right finishing touch for the spice racks. Cyndy added several drawer dividers and bins into her design for Mary's cookbooks, cookie sheets and other items needing custom-designed dividers. Nick installed 14 Glide-Outs in Mary's kitchen including three stile removals.

Nick went back one week later to check on Mary and make sure she was thrilled with her new kitchen. He was surprised to find that not only had Mary unpacked boxes, but she and her daughter had organized the kitchen, and the best part-Mary started cooking again.

Mary has a new "home."

What makes the Glide-Out™ Classic finish so superior?

Our proprietary Kerwin Coating™ is an ultraviolet cured top coat that is harder than catalyzed acrylics and other conventional flat line finishes ensuring our Glide-Outs look as good in 20 years as the day they were installed. We subject our Kerwin Coating to extensive quality assurance testing. Although your Glide-Outs won't experience these extreme conditions, we've ensured that they will stand up to most anything you can throw at them.

Temperature Check — No cracking after one hour at 158°F or two hours at -4°F.

Adhesion Test — Using several standardized tests for the adhesion of the coating, the results showed no significant flaking or detachment from the product.

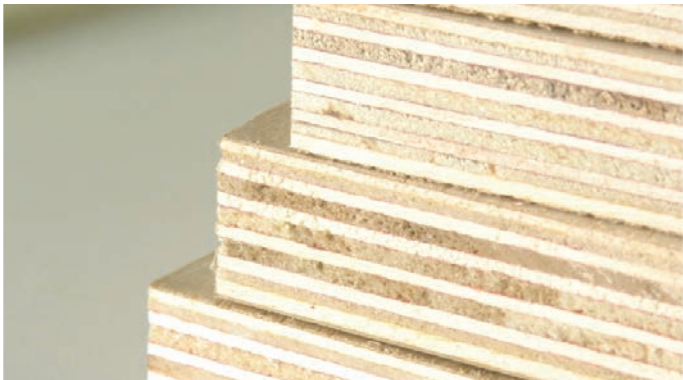

Chemical Test — None of the following chemicals had any effect on our drawer panels after 24 hours: vinegar, lemon juice, orange juice, ketchup, coffee, olive oil, and 100% alcohol.

Interlocking L-Joints

Interlocking L-Joints offer a superior durability and look for plywood shelves that dovetail joints can't give.

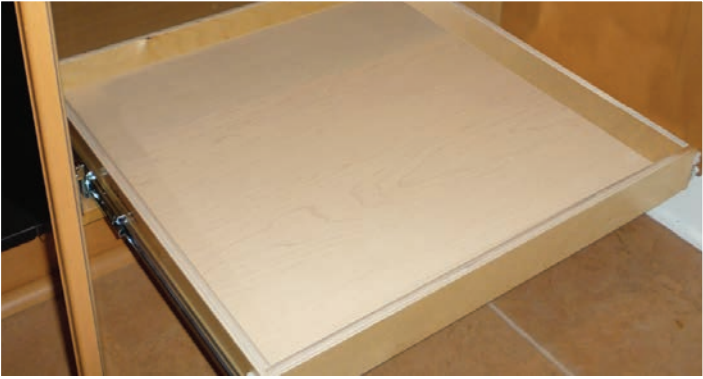

- High quality construction
- Prevents flaking and material failure
- Cleaner look and finish

Select Birch

We exclusively offer select Baltic Birch because it is the highest quality available and meets stringent emissions requirements. Our 9-Ply Select Birch offers:

- Cleaner joinery
- Superior screw holding
- Improved stability

Melamine Bottom Panels

Our Melamine bottom panels offer superior quality and stability that will keep your shelves in great condition for many years after installation.

- Moisture & scratch-resistant
- Choice of colors: White or Birch
- Dado groove ensures bottoms stay intact

Why Classic Full-Extension Rails are so much better

Our proprietary full-extension rails are self-lubricating and double-handed. This means they are always easy to open — no matter the weight.

Customization That Fits Your Needs

Customization is our specialty, and our wide array of storage options shows it. We can transform any space by improving accessibility so you can finally put everything in its place. In addition to our most popular storage options, we also offer these additional ways to help you create a fully customized storage plan:

Rail Replacement

If you want to upgrade the railing to improve the strength and mobility of your existing drawer, upgrade to our professional grade heavy-duty steel rails rated up to 100 pounds!

Riser Solution

This riser storage solution is a unique combination shelf that takes full advantage of lost space next to obstructions like water and drain pipes.

Drawer Boxes

Replace old drawer boxes that are damaged, broken or just don't work well. We can use the existing drawer fronts to maintain the continuity of your kitchen decor.

Scoops and Slopes

Scoops create a smooth handle for easy reach and access. Slopes allow for taller items to be stored at the back of the drawer, easing concerns of anything tipping over.

Stile Removal

A stile removal is the ideal way to maximize the available storage space in many cabinets. Removing the center stile permits wider Glide-Outs™ and expanded storage space. When the center stile is removed, it is relocated to the cabinet door back. Your cabinet will look exactly the same from the outside, but storage space may double on the inside!
